Meet Jack*, 42 year old man with persistent back pain

Jack had always been an active person, but when his back pain flared up, his outlook started to change. Soon, he became less active and began gaining weight.

When Jack first called his Moda Health coach, Julie, he wasn't sure if phone coaching would help. But within a few weeks, he began to feel more hopeful. Julie helped Jack understand the importance of self-care, including learning to strike a balance between rest and activity. Gradually, Jack resumed his daily activities, began losing weight and now has a better awareness of how to manage his back pain.

Jack is happy he called Julie and is feeling like himself again.
