

➤ Cut down on high-calorie munching

Satisfy your cravings and keep your body healthy with alternative snacks

You can cut back on calories and fat without sacrificing delicious taste. When you're craving a high-calorie snack, try one of the healthier alternatives below. You'll feel better afterwards, and you'll be improving your health!

| Healthy snack alternatives | | |
|----------------------------|---|---|
| If you're craving | Instead, try | |
| Candy bar |  | Low-fat granola bar |
| Soft drink |  | Iced tea or water |
| Crackers |  | Carrot |
| French fries |  | Plain baked potato with salsa |
| Ice cream |  | Fat-free frozen yogurt |
| Potato chips |  | Air-popped popcorn |
| Cookies |  | Celery with 2 tablespoons peanut butter |

Lose 1 pound of fat in a week

There are 3,500 calories in 1 pound of fat. So, if you cut out 500 calories every day for one week, you can lose 1 pound of fat.

What is equal to 500 calories?

- One candy bar and a 24-ounce soda
- Large french fries
- Caramel milk and coffee drink with whipped cream

Choose healthy, be healthy

You know that old saying, "You are what you eat?" Well, it's partially true. No, you won't turn green if you eat tons of broccoli. But foods high in saturated fat can increase your cholesterol. The best advice: Choose foods that are low in trans fat and saturated fat, and focus instead on fruits and vegetables.

Health plans in Washington provided by Moda Health Plan, Inc. 6112433_WA (01/14) HCS-1087